

DARE should tell the WHOLE truth.

Recently, DARE (Direct Action for Rights and Equality) called for an independent investigation of the alleged mistreatment of Esteban Carpio, charged with the murder of Detective James Allen. In DARE's eyes, the FBI's investigation lacked credibility.

These are the same eyes that want you to see the ACI as another Abu Ghraib prison; that want you to view dangerous gang leaders as abused victims of a cruel and violent prison system. This is the same DARE that used Craig Price, the convicted serial killer, as a spokesperson several years ago.

The RI Foundation financially supports DARE, though it may be unaware of DARE's current agenda. According to its own web site, DARE is "a dynamic national leader in carrying out innovative campaigns that hold government and cooperate institutions accountable". On the surface, it's a noble mission. But when victims are turned into criminals, and criminals are turned in to heroes, every citizen suffers. The truth will prevail, whether DARE chooses to use it or not.
